

Edit Item

Editing an item is similar to editing a section or menu.

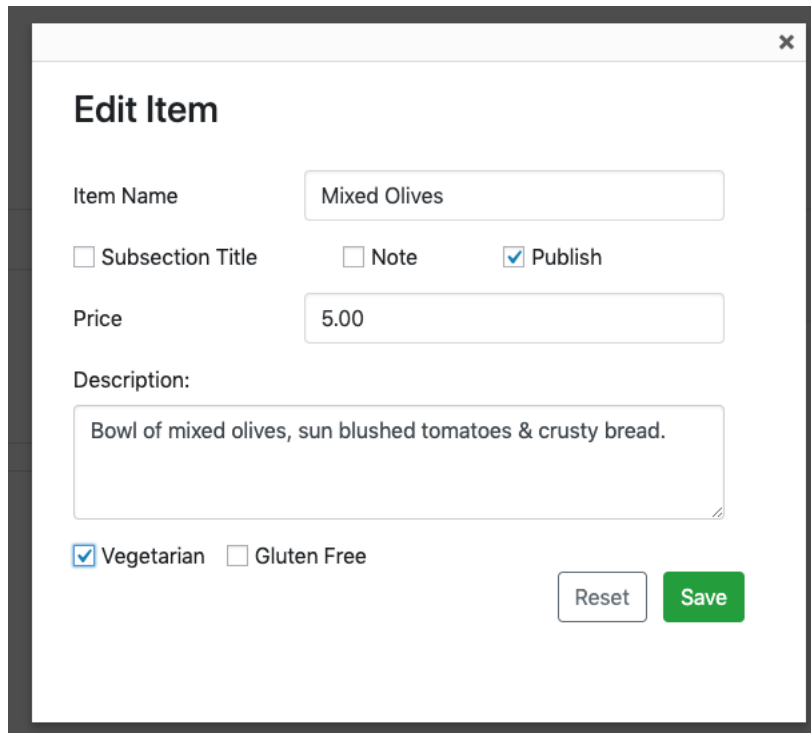

Click the 'Edit' icon. You should then see something like this:

A screenshot of the 'Edit Item' form, which is a modal window with a close button (X) in the top right corner. The form has the title 'Edit Item'. It contains several input fields and checkboxes. The 'Item Name' field is filled with 'Crispy Pork Crackling'. Below it, there are three checkboxes: 'Subsection Title' (unchecked), 'Note' (unchecked), and 'Publish' (checked). The 'Price' field is filled with '4.00'. Below that is a 'Description:' label followed by a text area containing 'Crispy Pork Crackling served with warm apple sauce.'. At the bottom, there are two more checkboxes: 'Vegetarian' (unchecked) and 'Gluten Free' (unchecked). To the right of these checkboxes are two buttons: 'Reset' and 'Save'.

This looks very similar to 'Add Item' form. From here you can:

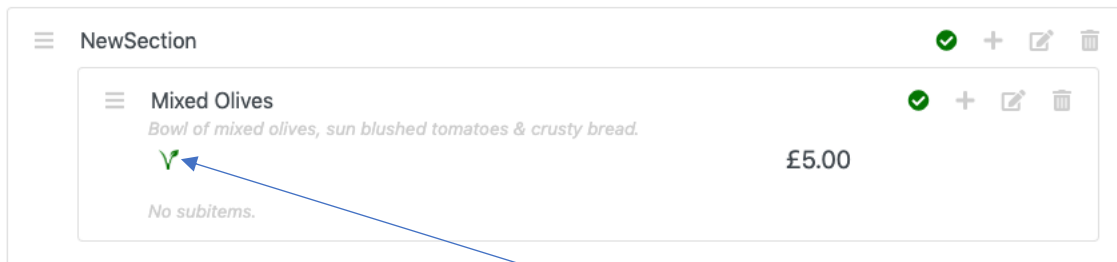

- Change the item name
- Turn the item into a subtitle
- Turn it into a note
- Publish / Unpublish it
- Change its price
- Change its description
- Change it vegetarian / gluten free status.

For example:

A modal window titled "Edit Item" with a close button (X) in the top right corner. The form contains the following fields and controls:

- Subsection Title: An unchecked checkbox.
- Note: An unchecked checkbox.

Click 'Save'. You should the changes reflected in the list:

A list view titled "NewSection" with a menu icon on the left and action icons (checkmark, plus, edit, delete) on the right. It contains one item:

- Mixed Olives: The item title, followed by its description "Bowl of mixed olives, sun blushed tomatoes & crusty bread." and price "£5.00". Below the description is a green vegetarian icon (a leaf) with a blue arrow pointing to it from the text below.
- No subitems: Text below the item.

Notice that as we selected 'Vegetarian', we can see the vegetarian icon.
